Okkult

A completed grimoire entry

This fictional record shows how a short entry can distinguish what a reader observes from the meaning they give it.

Practice and date

A charm for the threshold · 12 November

Purpose

Use the doorway as a reminder to pause after work.

Materials

Water, a small cloth, paper, and pencil.

Steps

Write “rest” on the paper. Wipe the inside jamb with a damp cloth. Read the word and put the paper away near the entrance.

Source

Okkult, A charm for the threshold. Contemporary household exercise.

Observation

I wiped the left jamb. I remembered the word when I came home on Tuesday and forgot it on Wednesday.

Interpretation

The reminder was easier to remember when I paused to put down my bag.

Review

On 19 November, try putting the bag down before checking my phone.
